Week #2

Focus this week is on Timing & Proper Grip.

Indoors:

Discuss Timing in the delivery:

Start in the hack position

Raise the hips

Pull back the rock towards the hack foot

The sliding foot moves straight back. The toe of the sliding foot will be roughly even with the heel of the hack foot.

Pause once you reach the full pull back position

(Delay the sliding foot movement)

Body weight moves forward

Begin the forward motion with the rock

Sliding foot moves forward & towards the middle of the chest

Thrust from the hack & lower the body into the final slide position

Cadence: Hips up, Rock Back, Foot Back, Pause, Rock Forward, Foot Forward, Slide

Discuss the grip on the rock:

The grip is held slightly back from the goose neck. You want to center your grip over the middle of the stone.

The underside of the handle rests on the 2nd joint of the fingers.

The thumb is placed along the side of the handle

Equal pressure is applied with the thumb and index finger.

The wrist is kept high and the palm of the hand is off the handle.

A letter 'V' is formed with the thumb and index finger.

Discuss the turns:

The skip's broom is the target that you aim at

The skip's outstretched arm tells you which way the rock will rotate.

Turn the goose neck towards the outstretched arm.

(10 o'clock or 2 o'clock)

While aiming at the skip's broom, rotate the rock towards a 12 o'clock position.
